Carpenter strike halts building here

About 1,300 carpenters, members of locals affiliated with the Carpenters' District Council of Madison County and vicinity, Mitchell, went on strike at 8 a.m. today, halting nearly all construction in Madison and Bond counties and portions of Calhoun and Jersey counties.

Locally, the picket lines stopped work on Granite City High School North, the Schnucks and Carps development, K-Mart, coke oven rebuilding and pollution improvements at Granite City Steel Co. and construction of two new classroom buildings at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Work on the new high school is expected to resume this week as labor officials have indicated they are willing to declare an emergency situation at the school as it may open in September.

John A. Ubaldi, secretary-treasurer of the Carpenters District Council, said this morning, "Whenever we receive a request from the school officials, we probably will grant an emergency situation there to help them get the school open."

Ubaldi said the decision will be his, Frank L. Kraus, assistant superintendent of the Granite City schools, contacted Ubaldi at 8:30 a.m. today to request that a state of emergency be declared. He said Ubaldi requested a meeting between Kraus, Leo Wolf, the contractor, and Ubaldi before he would allow work to resume.

Kraus said he was attempting to arrange a meeting for today with hopes of resuming construction immediately.

Union officials said today, "We had no choice. They did not accept our last offer and we had to strike. No one likes a strike." An official for the SIBA said the two sides had come to agreement concerning wages but that the stalemate was over a union proposal for the contractors to pay a 15 cent-per-hour "union check-off" which would call for the contractors, in effect, to pay the union dues of each worker.

"We are at a firm standoff on that point. We are not going to pay their union dues," Ubaldi said.

The Carpenters' contract expired July 31. Other contracts which expired the same time included the Laborers and the cement masons and plasterers.

SIBA is to meet with the Laborers today to try and reach agreement and a tentative agreement has already been reached with the Cement Masons and Plasterers. The latter groups are to vote on the proposed contract one week from today.

Carpenters' locals which went on strike today included Local 63 of Granite City, 285 of Collinsville, 377 of Alton, 378 of Edwardsville, 1555 of Highland, 1267 of Worden, 960 of Greenville and 1808 of Wood River.

BARGAINS GALORE attracted hundreds of area shoppers into downtown Granite City Friday and Saturday, where retailers displayed merchandise on tables and racks along sidewalks. The well patronized sale was aided by brilliant sunny weather. Entertainment was provided by strolling members of the Federal Reserve Notes, a barbershop quartet. (Press-Record Photo)

Gas leak in Mitchell

Leaking gas from the Progas Company located at St. Thomas Road and Chain of Rocks Road West of Mitchell caused an estimated 150 people from the Sunny Dales Acres sub-division and 25 guests from the Land of Lincoln Motel to evacuate the area at 4:30 a.m. Friday for over an hour.

Madison County Sheriff's Deputy Robert Anderson, answering a call to the area, noticed what he described as "a low lying fog over the ground with a heavy odor of gas." He then called the Mitchell Fire Department and his department for more assistance.

Due to the possibility of fire and explosion Lee Paul, Mitchell fire chief, 15 men from his department and the deputies alerted residents of the area. They were asked to turn off pilot light flames and leave the area as a precautionary measure.

"Traffic was stopped for about an hour-and-a-half and then we had a breeze come up which helped clear the gas," Paul stated.

Deputy Anderson turned off a gas valve located near the railroad crossing outside the company fence and Glen Boyer owner of the Progas Company was notified. Boyer came to the scene and turned off the valve inside of a fenced area.

Boyer said he is trying to determine how the valve was turned on as it is located behind a seven foot fence and two German Shepherd guard dogs protecting the area.

Mrs. Betty Huber, owner of the motel said all but one of her 25 guests left when they were awakened and that a strong odor of the gas hung in the area until about 8 a.m.

Lipsett fire, boys run

A large scale fire at Lipsett Steel Products, Inc., 2830 E. 23rd St., which started about 6 p.m. Sunday, still is smoldering today.

The blaze may have been deliberately set by three youths, between 12 and 14 years old, who were seen running from the scene, a company spokesman said today.

Granite City firemen were at the steel firm from 6 p.m. yesterday until 5 a.m. today attempting to extinguish the blaze in which 15 refrigerators, box cars were destroyed.

Six additional box cars were smoldering this morning and a company crane was being used to move other cars from the immediate area, the spokesman said.

A Lipsett guard reported to police that three youths were observed leaving the property through a hole in the perimeter fence on Nameoki Road. An inspection of the area from which the youths were seen running revealed the box cars on fire.

One of the boys was described by the guard as having "very blonde hair."

SIUE students to register

Students wishing to register for the fall quarter at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville can register by appointment Tuesday, Aug. 14 from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. or from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. in the Meridian Ballroom of the University Center.

Students can register without an appointment on Friday, Aug. 17 from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Appointments are available on a first come, first served basis at the Enrollment Center in the SIUE General Office Building.

Those wishing to attend the fall quarter classes, but have not yet been admitted to the university, should request an application from the Office of Admissions and Records. Students who attended the university during the 1972 fall quarter or later do not need to re-apply for admission for the next quarter, starting Sept. 24.

Start sewer break repairs

Officials of the U. S. Corps of Engineers are examining the 11 sewer breaks in Granite City today to determine if the city's estimate of the cost to repair the breaks is too high.

City officials estimated the breaks would cost $500,000 to repair but at a meeting with Mayor Paul Schuler and Street Superintendent Lionell Portell two weeks ago, state officials indicated they felt the repair figure was excessive.

The breaks now are being repaired by Fins Ernest Co. of East St. Louis, the low bidder on the work. Efforts are concentrating on a major break at Amos and Franklin avenues.

The city council has appropriated up to $200,000 for the repairs but also indicated when the money was appropriated, that they hoped the total would not be that high and that all funds spent could be recovered from federal flood relief funds.

When the state declined to approve the city's $500,000 damage estimate, the Corps of Engineers was asked to re-evaluate the situation. Two Corps officials were at the Amos and Franklin site Friday and were to check other breaks today.

The Corps is considering a method of sealing the sewers without excavating which would stop some breaks, but not the major breaks.

The method being considered utilizes a large inflatable bag which is inflated inside the sewer to seal it. A sealer then is pumped into the ground around the outside of the sewer which hardens and seals the outside of the pipe. The bag then is deflated and removed from inside the pipe.

The method could reduce the cost of the repair on some breaks by avoiding excavation. Ernest workers Friday dug their way to the pipe at the Amos and Franklin avenues break after three weeks of work. One of the major repair problems has been a high water table which has prohibited workmen from reaching the pipes.

To solve the problem a large system pumping water from about 41 well points in the ground is being used at the site. The pump system has lowered the water table around the break far enough to allow ex-cavators to reach the pipe without it being underwater.

Repair work on the pipe was to begin today.

The series of sewer breaks occurred when the Mississippi River rose above flood stage this spring. The river level raised the ground water level which washed out the dirt supporting the sewer pipes.

No estimate on the time needed to repair the damage has been given.

Copsey News Service
Washington—President Nixon's withholding of the Watergate tapes is pushing Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson (D-Ill.) closer to thoughts of impeachment than he ever has been before.

Stevenson has consistently said he believes that the truth will win out in the scandal and he put his faith in President Nixon's April 30 nomination of Elliot Richardson to be attorney general with carte blanche power to pursue the case "wherever it leads," and Richardson's assurance "he would honor the mandate."

After repeatedly rejecting talk of impeachment as "premature," Stevenson apparently has come to the conclusion almost overnight that Congress may be facing that "very disagreeable possibility" as a result of the President's confrontation with Congress and his own executive branch.

In a Senate speech Monday, Stevenson urged the president to release the tapes, saying Nixon has "now cut himself off from the people" and "he does not answer their questions."

"He spurns requests for plainly relevant evidence," contended Stevenson, "and finally he has cut himself off from the special prosecutor and his own attorney general."

In his speech, Stevenson mentioned "impeachment proceedings" as a dire alternative to Congressional impotence in a critical situation.

Later in response to questions from reporters, Stevenson emphasized that he was not calling for impeachment. He said that his purpose in imploring the President to release the tapes was "to avoid

But his protestations aside, it seems evident that Stevenson now considers it possible there could be a showdown if Nixon does not relent.

Ponderosa robbed

A robber armed with a weighing about 100 pounds with dark curly hair, collar length, wearing a blue shirt and T-style blue jeans, grabbed another employee, Chris Holland, 2168 Arnold Drive, by the shirt and forced Holland and the manager into an office.

He asked for the key to the bank deposits bag and also made Sutton open the safe. Before leaving the robber forced the two men to lie on the floor, warned them not to get up and closed the office door.

Joe Sutton, steak house manager, reported answering the knock at the restaurant's rear door to find a man standing there who pushed open the door and displayed a gun.

Congressional pay raises

By LESTER BELL
Capitol News Service

Washington — When the Illinois Representatives return home for the Congressional recess which began Friday and continues to Sept. 4, they'll undoubtedly reserve their best-honed explanations for their vote on the embarrassing issue of pay raises for themselves and ranking federal officials.

The vote may take some explaining because it was on a procedural resolution, not the bill itself. None of the Illinois apparently took part in the debate, so they can't whip out a reprint from the Congressional record showing what they said on the floor.

The Senate set the stage. Voting unanimously it had sent the House a bill to require the President to send his salary recommendations, including Congressional pay, to Congress by Aug. 31, instead of next January as required by the 1887 law creating the citizens' commission which recommends pay adjustments to him.

The House Rules Committee in a resolution gave the Senate passed bill a "rule," or green light, to come to the floor. On a motion to adopt the resolution to consider the bill, the House rejected the Rule 227 to 158.

Thus, the House refused even to consider the Senate bill that would have speeded up a pay raise for members of Congress.

some say painfully from the present $42,500 to a possible $50,000.

Backers argued in vain that Congress would not be raising its pay. They said the bill simply "implemented" two existing provisions:

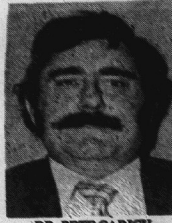

One to provide for review and adjustment of pay every two years instead of every four, and two, to provide that the President's recommendations be submitted not later than Aug. 31 and not later than Aug. 31 of each second year thereafter.

Opponents called the bill an indirect way to get a raise without seeming to support an increase and they contended that it was ill-advised and ill-timed when everyone else is held down to the 5.5 per cent wage freeze.

If Congress asks the country "to bite the bullet," it can do so less than "wet an example," one congressman said, urging rejection of the rule.

On the 527 to 156 vote debating the rule, and thus precluding a pay raise until January, 148 Republicans and 91 Democrats teamed up against the resolution. Thirty Republicans joined 126 Democrats in the futile attempt to bring the bill to the floor.

In the 24-member Illinois delegation, 11 congressmen voted for the rule and 11 voted against it. Two Republicans joined nine Democrats in supporting the rule. The "no" votes were exclusively Republican. Cong. Melvin Pote (D-East St. Louis) voted in favor of the rule.

Howlett reviews first quarter

Michael J. Howlett, Secretary of State, said Tuesday the taxpayers of Illinois will be saved more than a million dollars a year by changes made in his first six months in office.

Addressing the Rotary Club of Chicago in the LaSalle Hotel, Howlett said his office is doing more work with fewer employees at lower cost.

"From the first half of January, when I was inaugurated, until the first half of July, our work force dropped from 4,286 employees to 3,969," Howlett said.

He said the reduction in staff is larger than the reduction in people because of summer help added during the vacation period.

"For a few weeks we will be paying two people for the same job situation," he said. As an example of unit cost reduction, Howlett said the Motor Vehicles Department issued roughly 200,000 more certificates of title and 400,000 more sets of license plates this year than in the first six months of 1972 while saving $500,000 in personnel costs.

He said closing of 45 drivers license examining stations will save more than $700,000 a year, while the full load of work is handled in the 93 stations remaining open.

"Some communities have resisted the closings," he said. "But we could not allow state employees to sit idle in little-used stations while license applicants were waiting in line for service elsewhere."

Other cost saving measures reviewed by Howlett included: Setting up new processes for printing and handling title applications, at $100,000 a year saving.

Eliminating a laundry and cleaning allowance for uniformed personnel, at $92,000 a year saving.

Stopping unnecessary newspaper purchases and subscriptions, a $12,900 saving.

Cutting off piped-in music for office employees, saving $150 a month.

New contracts for janitorial service at Chicago facilities, awarded by open bids, at $55,000 a year saving.

Leasing a greenhouse that had cost $60,000 a year to operate. Plants needed for the Capitol Complex will be purchased from private industry at a third of the cost.

The Secretary also reviewed a list of service improvements, including:

Enforced registration of improperly registered trucks, adding $129,404 to state revenues, a 64 per cent increase from the same period of last year.

Revision of Rules of the Road, to simplify it for drivers license applicants and make it less expensive.

New, faster procedures for identification of abandoned cars.

Howlett said professional qualification, not political influence, is the controlling factor in personnel policy.

He mentioned the new superintendent of buildings and grounds, Warren B. Manker, a mechanical engineer.

"He is the first nonpolitical appointee in the history of this position," said Howlett.

Joyce Boushard is wed

Miss Joyce Ann Boushard became the bride of James Louis Longbottom at 7 o'clock in the evening of July 21 at St. Vincent's Catholic Church, 1800 Pontoon Road.

Candlelight illuminated the sanctuary and bouquets of white summer flowers and ferns decorated the altar for the double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. William Foster and the Rev. C. M. O'Guin.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell I. Boushard, 17 Nassau St. The groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Longbottom, reside at 2700 Susan Drive.

Mrs. Richard Branding, soloist, sang "Because," "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied at the organ by Neil Seymour.

Escorted down the white carpeted aisle and given in marriage by her father, the former Miss Boushard wore a bridal gown fashioned of polyester organza with a full skirt and attached chapel train. Garlands of cotton Venise lace created a panel effect on the skirt.

The molded bodice was designed with a square neckline edged in a Venise lace and lace was repeated on the long sheer sleeves.

She wore a camelot headpiece created of organza with matching lace and a pearl beaded crown to hold in place her elbow length veil of bridal illusion. She carried a cascade of white pom poms encircled with white cymbidium orchids.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Claude Davis, a sister of the bride, chose an aqua rayon chiffon dress made in Empire style with insertion ribbon and lace marking the high rise waistline and accenting the long sleeves. She held a bouquet of blue carnations and white pom poms.

Miss Phyllis Bonnet and Mrs. Vernon Parker, a sister of the groom, served as bridesmaids. They selected identical gowns to that worn by the bride at the wedding, only in white and pink. Their bouquets consisted of white pom poms and carnations in shades to match their dresses.

All wore headpieces of nylon sheer logs and long streamers, ending with tiny floral buds in the wedding colors.

Linda K. Browning, a cousin of the groom, was the flower girl. She wore a pink voile frock embellished with multi-colored rose buds. Dusty pink lace trimmed the long sleeves and bodice and she had a pink bow in her hair and she carried a basket of rose petals.

The groom chose his brother-in-law, Vernon Parker, to serve as best man. David Long, John Foster and Dan Bernal and Mark Senak completed the corps of groomsmen and ushers.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Boushard appeared in a street length dress and jacket ensemble in powder blue knit, complemented with white accessories.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Longbottom, was attired in a peach polyester street length dress and black accessories. Both wore white carnations corsages.

After a wedding trip to the Lake of the Ozarks, the newlyweds will reside in Granite City.

A reception was given immediately following the ceremony in the church fellowship hall. The rehearsal dinner was hosted at Cleo's Restaurant.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Longbottom graduated from Granite City High School, where the bride was a member of the National Honor Society. She is now employed at the First Granite City National Bank.

Mr. Longbottom also attended Southern Bible College in Houston, Tex. He works as a machine operator at Shasta Beverage Co.

Hawaii theme of club meeting

Hawaiian motifs and an informative review of a vacation trip to the Hawaiian Islands were the theme and program topic of the Garden Study Club meeting last week.

Mrs. John Lehman, who has just returned from the islands, gave the program and served as hostess at the August meeting.

She was dressed appropriately in a "mumu" and presented each member with a miniature orchid corsage. A souvenir prize from Hawaii was won by Mrs. Delbert McKinnick.

A dessert luncheon was served to the group at Tempel's Smorgasbord prior to the business session. The club collect was read by Mrs. Arthur Roman and roll call was answered by naming a perennial plant.

The second part of the program was given by Mrs. Robert Briggs who spoke on "holies," a versatile plant that grows well in any part of the country.

A lengthy discussion was held on the proposed junior garden club and a tentative date was set for an organizational meeting. Prospective members will receive cards announcing the time and place of the initial meeting.

The club will next meet Sept. 5 in the home of Mrs. Briggs. Those present were Messdames Toby Anderson, Robert Blankenship, C. E. Eads, Rola Grewell, Bonard Maples, Dan Seymour, John Signe, G. W. Stearns, E. H. Thies, Oshali Warren, Wilmer Winters and those mentioned.

Miss Derosssett bride of Phillip Clemensen

Summer bouquets adorned the altar as the Rev. Phillip Kraft officiated at the double ring ceremony at 10 o'clock.

Mrs. Chana Judd presided at the organ and John Stanfill, soloist, sang "We've Only Just Begun," "Theme from Romeo and Juliet" and "On This Day."

The former Miss Derosssett selected a gown of white organza over tulle, featuring a white Chantilly lace bodice. Lace formed the stand up collar and the upper part of the puffed sleeves that terminated in long pointed cuffs.

Sequined lace motifs were appliqued on the cuffs, down the front of the A-line skirt and were repeated on the chapel length train that fell gently from the shoulders.

A white satin bow embellished with sequins and seed pearls secured her melody length veil and she held a bouquet of white carnations and multi-colored daisies.

Mrs. Ben Derosssett, a sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor and the bridesmaids were Mrs. Patricia Briggs, Mrs. Katie Wolborn and Miss Sherry Clemensen, the groom's sister.

They wore identically styled gowns made with stand-up collars, molded bodices and controlled skirts, fashioned with a ruffled flounce at the hemline. The bodices, Juliet sleeves and flounce were created in flopped print, coordinating with the pastel shades of blue, pink and purple of the dresses.

Each wore a picture hat trimmed in matching ribbon and their flowers were tinted carnations and vari-colored daisies.

Chana Clemensen, a cousin of the groom, serving as flower girl, wore an apricot frock similar in style to the adult attendants' dresses. Michael Bellipani was the ringbearer.

The groom chose John Honnert as his best man. Steve and Paul Derosssett, brothers of the bride, and Phillip Bellipani were groomsmen. Seating the guests were Larry Griffith and Ron Parente.

Both mothers selected full length gowns. Mrs. Derosssett appeared in a pastel pink dress and the groom's mother, Mrs. Clemensen, was attired in pale blue. They wore matching accessories.

An open house reception was held at 2909 Forest Ave., following the early afternoon service.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Clemensen, parents of the groom, were hosts at a rehearsal dinner at their home.

The newly married couple graduated from Granite City High School. They will reside in Granite City after a wedding trip to the Ozarks.

The bride is employed as a receptionist by Dr. Wallace Brylak. Her husband manages McDonald's Restaurant.

Records fall at national race

By KEN THOMPSON
Press-Record Staff Writer

More than 100 AA-fuel dragsters and nitromethane burning funny cars invaded St. Louis International Raceway this weekend to compete in the third annual Gateway Nationals, the eighth event in a series of 10 Grand American Series sanctioned by the American Hot Rod Association.

Don "Big Daddy" Garlits, Sooner, Fla., came into the meet with a series of five second bracket runs in his 426 Hemi powered top fuel dragster. He set a low elapsed time of the meet with a run of 6.315 seconds down the quarter-mile strip, during the first day of qualifying.

Garlits, winner of the 1972 Gateway Nationals was faced with an almost identical to last year's situation yesterday during the finals, having won the first two rounds of elimination, defeating Phil Johnson, Liberty, Mo., with a 6.89 second time at 192.31 miles per-hour and Marvin Graham, Oklahoma City, Okla., in the second round with a 6.53 second run at 221 m.p.h. He was to have met "Kansas" John Weib, Newton, Kan., in the top fuel final but instead found himself face-to-face with Billy Campbell, Radcliff, Ky., who had the top speed of the meet, 333.17 m.p.h. down the 1.320 favel.

Campbell has been defeated in the second round of the finals by Weib, but was matched against Garlits in the final when Weib blew an engine at the finish line.

Garlits piloted his dragster down the asphalt strip in 6.339 seconds at 224 m.p.h. to capture top fuel eliminator title after Campbell's machine experienced mechanical trouble coming off the line.

One of the most rewarding scenes of the event came in the finals of Funny Car eliminations as Jim Nicoll, Dallas, Tex., a converted top fuel pilot, who had raced for several years in a conventional AA-fuel dragster, and has had a season of frustration getting his funny car dialed-in for a win, posted his first victory of 1973 defeating Don "the Snake" Prudhomme, Granada Hills, Calif.

Nicoll, victim of broken parts, crashes and fire this year posted the fourth fastest qualifying time, defeated the St. Louis based car of Guthrie & Burton in the first round, posted an easy win in the second round when the car of Doc Haleday, White Bear Lake, Minn., lost fire on the starting line and virtually walked away with the final round as Prudhomme's engine went up in smoke.

Pro-stock action provided one of the most frustrating mishaps that could ever happen to a professional drag racer. Bill "Grumpy" Jenkins of Pennsylvania set a new AHRA record of 8.87 seconds Friday night, towed his car to Charleston Saturday for a match run with former record holder Herb McCandless, defeated him in three straight runs, and then returning here for Sunday's final eliminations, only to be defeated by a thief who stole his racing machine while "Grumpy" was eating breakfast in Collinsville.

National point leader Dick Landy, Northridge, Calif., defeated Gary Kimball, Independence, Mo., to capture the pro-stock title after a series of rounds that was marred by a crash of Jack Roush, Taylor, Mich. Roush, pitted in the second round against Kimball, either blew a front tire, or hit a slick spot at a speed of 155 m.p.h., crossed in front of Kimball and the car flipped in the grass at the end of the drag strip. Taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital, Roush, 31, was admitted in fair condition with a scrape to the top of his head, cuts to his left arm and contusions and cuts to his left elbow.

In an unrelated incident, 22-year-old Michael Bush of Mascoutah, a spectator, was injured when the dragster of Chris Karamanos, Chicago, exploded a supercharger, hurling parts into the stands. Bush was tre

Bush was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital for cuts to the back of his head which required eight stitches and he was released.

Other winners of the meet were competition eliminator—Dion Stewart, Greenfield; street class—Geo. Solomon, Raytown, Mo.; super stock—Carl Kelley, Arkansas; stock—Wally Higby Minnesota; motorcycle—Ward Wollard, Sedalia, Mo.; and selectra class—Bill Powers, Florissant, Mo.

Former world land speed record holder Craig Breedlove piloted his English Leather rocket car on runs each day. His fastest run came Sunday on a 4.5 second rocket burn, hurling the car down the quarter-mile in 5.55 seconds, an AHRA record, with a terminal speed of 266.28 m.p.h.

GARAGE SALE USA.

The neighborhood garage sale is sort of an American institution. Like baseball, apple pie, and Chevrolets.

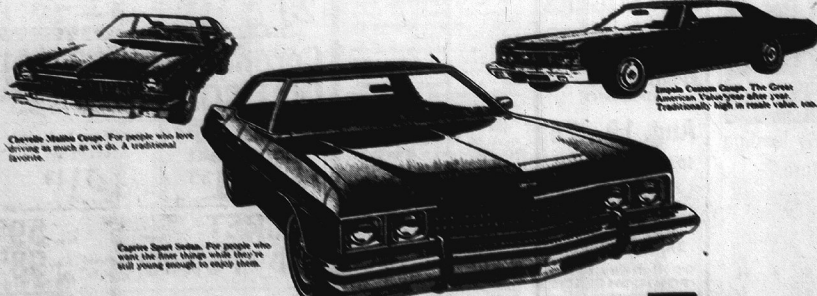

So it seems only natural that Chevrolet should have a Garage Sale.

Ah, but unlike some garage sales you've been to, Chevrolet is not selling antiques. Just shiny new cars, and some tough new trucks.

We can't tell you, in this ad, exactly which models and styles and colors. After all, there are over 6000 Chevrolet dealers across the country.

We're simply here to suggest that if you're even remotely in the market for a new Chevrolet, you ought to go down to your dealer's and browse.

With a little luck you'll come up with a big bargain.

Chevrolet Malibu Coupe. For people who love driving as much as we do. A traditional favorite.

Chevrolet Sport Sedan. For people who want the best things while they're still young enough to enjoy them.

Caprice Coupe. The Great American Value car after years. Traditionally high in resale value.

Janssen also was involved in an accident while running second in the second heat race which knocked him back to the fourth finishing position. Leson Leonard of Jefferson City, Mo., won the race. Miss Sharon Garofoli Charles Nappier wed

St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church in Madison was the scene of the wedding at 2 p.m. Saturday of Miss Sharon Garofoli, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph D. Garofoli, 2101 Hildebrand St., Madison and Charles Nappier, 2023 Fourth St., Madison.

The Rev. Conrad Matola officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with lavish bouquets of white lilies and greenery.

Parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. David Nappier, reside in Bushard, Mo.

Selections sung by the soloist, Miss Loretta Varner, were "We're Only Just Begun," a theme from "Love Story" and "Scarborough Fair." Jim Haveran presided at the organ.

For her wedding, the bride selected a gown of white organza over tulle. Tiny seed pearls and Venice lace trimmed the bodice, creating a bib effect, and enhanced the stand up lace collar.

The long tapered sleeves were fashioned with ruffles of Venice lace trim and the full skirt made with a deep ruffle at the hemline fell gracefully to the floor, forming a chapel train. Satin ribbon defined the waistline ending with a bow and streamers in the back.

A matching bonnet of embroidered Venice lace flowers etched with tiny seed pearls and accented with a satin bow and streamers secured her lovely length veil. The bride held a bouquet of phalaenopsis orchids and baby breath festooned with long white streamers.

Miss Linda Dickerson was maid of honor and the bridesmaids included Mrs. Lena Garofoli, a sister-in-law of the bride, Mrs. Jean Polzin, the bride's cousin, Mrs. Kathy Kube and Miss Etta Nappier, the groom's sister.

They wore nylon dotted Swiss gowns in rainbow colors designed with Empire bodices, featuring a ruffled bib effect and long full sleeves trimmed with ribbon and lace.

The slightly gathered skirts were encrusted with wide bouquets, edged in matching lace.

Picture hats with ribbons in yellow, pink, green, purple and blue to match their gowns were worn by the attendants, and they carried baskets of varicolored daisies mixed with pom poms.

The groom chose Richard Peck as his best man, Dennis and Ronald Garofoli, brothers of the bride, James Nappier, the groom's brother, and Ron Kube were groomsmen.

Guests were seated by Mrs. Frances Johnston, a cousin of the bride, and Rick Buckingham. A rehearsal dinner was served to members of the wedding party at the bride-groom's home.

The newly married Mr. and Mrs. Nappier greeted guests at a reception held at the Croatian Home in Madison. Miss Rose Krutick attended the guest book.

Both are 1970 graduates of Madison High School. The bride is employed as a typist at John Swift Co. Her husband formerly worked at Reilly Tar and Chemical. They will reside in Madison.

A floor length gown of polyester was worn by the mother of the bride. The white sleeveless bodice featured a cowl neckline and the straight skirt was created in a pink, orange, gold and floral design.

Mrs. Nappier, the groom's mother, selected an aqua blue gown with a sleeveless bodice of floral velveteen fashioned with an A-line skirt of nylon crepe. White carnation corsages were worn by both mothers.

Childbearing decisions affected by changing role of women, study reveals Individual freedom and the women's liberation movement are playing major roles in the decisions of modern women against childbearing, according to research conducted at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville by Mrs. Roanne Rutman of Florissant, Mo.

Mrs. Rutman conducted the research, including the questioning of 699 SIUE coeds, as the basis for a thesis written in partial fulfillment of the requirements for a master of arts degree in sociology.

The research indicated that "traditionalism was significant in the decision to bear children, while independence was shown to be significant in the decision not to have children," Mrs. Rutman said.

"With the emergence of the women's liberation movement and the zero population growth groups as major forces in American society, there is little doubt that the role of the woman in the home is undergoing rapid change," Mrs. Rutman stated.

Literature on the topic reveals more than 100 reasons for the trend away from the childbearing role. Mrs. Rutman revealed. She said a great deal of speculation in the literature suggests three major reasons that women choose in their decisions not to bear children: the desire for freedom, feelings of fear, and the holding of certain details.

In connection with the desire for freedom, Mrs. Rutman identified five reasons which apparently contribute to decisions not to have children: 1) mobility (opportunities to move and travel); 2) the desire for the lack of drudgery and routine tasks associated with childbearing; 3) a career-centered life-style; 4) the economic means for a higher level of living; and 5) an untried upon marital relationship.

According to the study, females who identify with a more traditional attitude of their role in their marriage, are seen as having a greater desire for children.

"Any fears, ideals, or desires for freedom are quashed by the overriding desire to bear children in the quest to fulfill the traditional woman's role expectations," Mrs. Rutman said.

"That is, the traditional woman is bound so by what she thinks her role should be that she is unable to break away far enough to decide against children," she added. Mrs. Rutman believes the study has potential value in regard to policy decisions in either encouraging or discouraging births.

"Once it can be determined which factors motivate the non-childbearing decisions, these factors can be used to their best advantage by such groups as governments or special interest groups," she explained.

"Similarly, the results of this study could be utilized in encouraging births. For example, medicine could be subsidized in its quest for discovering the means of eliminating all pains and discomforts of childbirth."

Mrs. Rutman also expressed the hope that the research will contribute toward helping understand the changing roles of contemporary American women.

Miss Cassandra Lynn Godfrey, the bride's cousin, was the flower girl and Jeffrey Robbers, a nephew of the groom, was ringbearer.

The honor attendant wore a sleeveless peach organza gown enhanced with tiny white enameled daisies set in vertical rows on the ruffled bodice. Her colonial bouquet was an arrangement of mint green carnations and white pom poms.

Blue organza dresses were selected by the bridesmaids and they held colonial bouquets of ice blue carnations and white pom poms.

The flower girl was dressed in a white organza frock trimmed with tiny blue daisies. She carried a white wicker basket of blue and white flower petals.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in an Empire style bridal gown created of white organza and lace. Long organza sleeves, accented with lace cuffs, were set in the fitted bodice featuring a jewel neckline.

Vertical rows of matching lace motifs were appliqued on the bodice and the front of the skirt that swept gently into a chapel length train.

Connie McDowell marries Harold Richard Lohman

A white arch, festooned with greenery and white satin bows, and burning tapers in branched candelabra provided the setting for the wedding of Miss Connie Marie McDowell and Harold Richard Lohman at 2 p.m. July 31 at the Second Baptist Church, 21st Street and Illinois Avenue. The Rev. Virgil Graham of Lincoln, Ill., officiated at the double ring ceremony as the couple recited vows from the first chapter of Ruth, verses 16 and 17.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth L. McDowell, 650 Bend Road, south of Madison. The groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lohman, reside at 835 Reynolds St., Madison.

Escorted down the white carpeted aisle and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace over tulle designed with a fitted bodice, featuring a sash and long tapered sleeves.

Her bouffant skirt was fashioned of scalloped lace tiers, with the top tier draped to the back creating an apron effect. A lace floral headpiece secured her veil of bridal illusion and she carried a bouquet of white carnations and pink Sweetheart roses.

Miss Dorothy Nash, maid of honor, Miss Gale Chastain and Miss Debbie Caple, bridesmaids, and the flower girl, Kathy Angle, were gownned alike.

Their Empire style dresses made with short sleeves were created with puffed upper sleeves and short skirts. The floor length skirts of lilac organza had a deep lilac flounce at the hemline. White Venice lace and lilac insertion ribbon marked the high rise waistlines.

Each wore a white picture hat with matching Venice lace trim and long satin streamers. They held arrangements of white carnations encircled with purple ribbon loops. The flower girl carried a basket of rose petals.

Bruce Sims, a cousin of the groom, served as best man. Brian Warden and Eddie McDowell, a brother of the bride, were groomsmen. Jim

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the parents of the bride and groom at the Bend Road Baptist Church. Guests attended a reception at the Second Baptist Church following the service.

Converting to Electric Heat makes a happy home happier

IT'S OUR BUSINESS TO SERVE YOU BETTER
ILLINOIS POWER

When his old furnace needed replacing, Mr. Dewey Barr of Decatur, Illinois, decided to convert to electric heat.

To his pleasant surprise, he found the conversion job was done quickly and inexpensively. First, additional insulation was installed in ceilings and between the floors. Then electric baseboard heaters were installed throughout the house and electric blower wall units were put in the bathrooms for instant warmth on chilly mornings. Each room has its own individual thermostat.

Perhaps your present heating system may be showing symptoms of age. If so, why not look into electric heat. As the Barrs discovered, a snugly insulated, electrically heated home can make a happy family just that much happier. Our Sales Representative will be glad to furnish full information. Just call our office.

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Barr and children (David, Angie and Maria) enjoy the cozy warmth of the home they have converted to electric heat.

SIUE granted $42,025 for special education

A $42,025 grant has been received from the U.S. Office of Education, Bureau of Education for the Handicapped, for the modification of programs in the special education department of the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville School of Education.

William R. Whiteside, chairman of the SIUE special education department, said the purpose of the project is to change the special education training programs at SIUE from "categorical" programs to "an integrated area program." The formal name of the project is, "Integrated Areas Special Education Personnel Preparation Program."

Whiteside explained that graduate and undergraduate majors are offered in mental retardation, serious emotional disturbance, and learning disabilities. Courses also are available in social maladjustment, special education administration, trainable mentally retarded, gifted education, and preschool education.

Under the integrated area project, students will complete regular courses in special education plus specialized courses in two categorical areas. According to Whiteside, experienced special education teachers who are graduate students are trained as "master" teachers, while undergraduate and inexperienced graduate students are trained primarily as special class and resource room teachers. Whiteside said program changes are expected to be completed by the termination of the 1975-76 grant period. The grant announced this week is for the 1973-74 academic year. The project was started in 1972-73.

Property tax assessments in overlapping districts

By RAY SERATI
Copley News Service
Springfield — Gov. Daniel Walker has legislation on his desk, which if signed into law, might be welcomed by persons living in the commonly called overlapping tax districts.

Persons residing in overlapping districts for years have complained when neighboring counties did not assess property at uniform levels. This was especially true for school districts. Taxpayers who live in such districts but are actually in the neighboring county have long looked at the assessments. The overlapping taxing districts problem first hit the state level during the constitutional convention. Delegates to the constitutional convention were presented objections by several taxpayers along with taxpayers' groups.

So the constitutional convention ended up by providing a remedy. A section of the Illinois revenue article provides that the General Assembly can by law provide for equal apportionment in the assessment of property for taxation purposes in those districts which have overlapping boundaries, or district lines which cover more than one county.

Two bills were introduced in the General Assembly in an effort to provide the legislative remedy sought in the state's constitution. One bill was sponsored by Sen. Karl Berning (R-Deerfield) and one was sponsored by Rep. Cal Skinner Jr. (R-Crystal Lake). Before leaving the General Assembly and heading for Walker's desk the bills were amended so that they became identical in scope.

Basically the legislation would allow either the officials of the overlapping taxing unit or interested taxpayers to go to the local government affairs department to seek studies on assessments. By doing this a determination could be made on the assessment levels.

The individual county clerks of the counties involved would have to certify to the department the assess valuations.

Then department officials will take all of this information to try to determine if there has been proper assessments within the overlapping districts.

With the adoption of the new constitution in 1970 such problems will undoubtedly be getting more legislative attention in the future.

Salaries increase for college grads

Starting salaries for new college graduates are showing the biggest increases in four years, according to data released this week by David R. Van Horn, placement director for Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Compiled by the College Placement Council, of which SIUE is one of 145 participating institutions, the data is part of an annual salary survey. The council reports the higher salary averages appear to be a result of a resurgence of college recruiting this year characteristic of the late 1960s. A heavy demand for candidates in technical disciplines was apparent once again, with the biggest surge in activity in the number of offers to engineering graduates at the bachelor's level.

In the previous three years of curtailed recruiting activity, percentage increases in salary offers hovered around the two per cent level. This year, however, beginning salary averages moved upward at a rate of four per cent or more, according to the survey.

The past season also saw marked efforts by employers to improve the employment status of women. A reflection of this is the fact that percentage increases in salary offers to women bachelor's degree candidates generally were larger than for their male counterparts. However, those increases still did not bring the actual dollar averages up to the level of men's offers except in the high demand categories such as engineering and accounting, a council spokesman said.

In the men's study, chemical engineering remained at the top in dollar value of offers at the bachelor's degree level with an average of $962 per month, followed by electrical engineering, $931, and mechanical engineering, $927. General business majors received average offers of $757, while accounting offers averaged $827. The lowest average was $718 for humanities and social sciences.

Candidates for master's degrees in business administration continued to attract the most offers and the highest average starting salaries at the master's level of the men's study. Those with a technical undergraduate degree experienced a four per cent increase to an average of $1,174 a month, while those with non-technical backgrounds went up five per cent to $1,115.

The averages for master's engineering candidates ranged from $1,000 for civil engineering to $1,083 for chemical engineering, representing increases from three per cent to slightly under five per cent. The lowest average at the master's level was $982 for candidates in agriculture and related sciences, an increase of four per cent to $1,015.

At the doctoral level, the top dollar average was the $1,508 a month for electrical engineering, an increase of just under five per cent.

In the women's study as in the men's study at the bachelor's level, engineering candidates received the highest average offers. For women, the average per month per cent to $808 a month, which actually was slightly higher than the $828 men's average for all engineering disciplines.

Several women's categories experienced the largest percentage increases in either study. Health and medical services went up 11 per cent to $715, scientific research gained over 10 per cent to $727, and business and public administration advanced nine per cent to $700.

Illinois soybean capital of world

By MARY LOU MANNING
Capley News Service
Springfield — Illinois continues to own the title Soybean Capital of the World, according to figures released in the Illinois Crop and Livestock Report.

Illinois farmers planted 9.1 million acres of soybeans this spring and expect to harvest 9.94 million acres. These figures represent a substantial 31 per cent increase over 1972 and far ahead of second-ranked Iowa's 7.65 million acres planted and 7.6 million acres for harvest. National figures indicate an expected soybean harvest of 55.73 million acres compared to 45.75 last year.

All field crops considered, Illinois farmers expect to harvest 22.1 million acres this year, 11 per cent more than last year. Besides soybeans, increases in acreage were forecasted in corn and wheat while decreases were indicated in oats, sorghums and hay.

Iowa is the nation's leader in corn acreage with 11.9 million acres planted and an expected harvest of 11.25 million acres. Illinois ranks second with 10.1 million acres of corn planted and an expected harvest of 9.8 million acres — both seven per cent greater than last year. The national picture shows 62.94 million acres of corn expected to be harvested this year. Although Illinois wheat production is expected to be down 27 per cent from 1972, the acreage planted is up seven per cent. However, this year's average yield is forecasted at 31 bushels per acre as compared to last year's 45 bushels per acre. Illinois ranks eighth in U. S. wheat production.

A 16 per cent decrease in oat production is forecast for Illinois this year. Figures indicate 23.2 million bushels will be harvested this year with an average 58 bushels per acre compared with 62 last year. Total planted acres declined sharply from 1.23 million acres in 1972 to 550,000 acres this year.

The 1973 figure includes acreage planted on government set-aside acres. Oats harvested for grain are expected to total 400,000 acres or a decrease of nine per cent from last year. Sorghums acreage is set at 60,000 acres for 1973, as compared to 60,000 acres for 1972. Expected harvest of 60,000 acres for grain, down from 100,000 acres in 1972, is forecasted.

A slight decline in hay production is also expected, 1.14 million acres in 1973 as compared to 1.15 million acres in 1972. In addition, Illinois farmers expect to harvest 12,000 acres of popcorn, 85,000 acres of apples, 7,000 acres of peaches, 22,000 acres of rye and 15,000 acres of barley.

Illinois Reading Council seeks improved instruction

Copley News Service

Every child has a right to read and a right to learn how to read.

If American schoolchildren are to make the most use of their reading abilities, this question obviously follows: Are they getting the best possible instruction in reading?

A group of Illinois educators believes reading instruction in elementary schools could be improved. So they organized about five years ago into the Illinois Reading Council (IRC) to do something about it.

The IRC drive for better reading instruction techniques was climaxed last March with a statewide conference addressed by Dr. Walter Barbe, editor of Children's Digest Magazine and a recognized authority on child education.

Delegates also heard other experts speak on trends toward better reading instruction, toured Northern Illinois University's reading laboratory and were offered 40 reading workshop sessions to gain new insights into instruction techniques.

The IRC, an affiliate of the International Reading Association (IRA), represents a cross section of the education profession in Illinois: university professors, reading specialists, pre-school teachers, parochial school instructors and public school teachers at both the elementary and high school levels.

Unaffiliated with any school system or teaching group except the parent IRA, the Illinois group on its own is attempting to improve reading instruction across the state of Illinois, explains Alfred G. Thurston, editor of the IRC Journal.

While IRC membership so far is encouraging, Thurston expresses the hope that more Illinois teachers will join in the drive for improved reading instruction as the organization's aims become more widely known.

David Rhoads, IRC president and a reading consultant for West Aurora High School, says a chief aim of the organization is to cooperate with the office of the Illinois superintendent of public instruction to improve standards for teachers and specialists in reading instruction.

Rhoads notes that two of the most active local groups of IRA are the Fox Valley Reading Council whose membership extends from Dundee to Osgood, and the Northern Illinois Reading Council.

The IRA, he points out, convenes annually and recently drew more than 10,000 delegates to its Denver meeting.

"Delegates to the IRA conventions always return, because each year they learn of new methods for reading instruction," the IRC president recalls.

"The IRC and its local councils encourage parent interest and involvement in the projects to improve reading instruction," Rhoads adds.

HERO EQUATION Boy plus tree equals Tarzan

By JOHN SINOR
Copley News Service

Here's bright news for a spring day. I ran into Tarzan again yesterday. He is alive and well and living in a pepper tree in my neighborhood.

I hadn't seen him for at least five years, and the last time we met he was a red-head. Yesterday he had brown hair. He's younger now, too. About 5 years old.

I looked down at me from his peppy porch and said: "I'm Tarzan."

I said: "Good heavens, Tarzan, where have you been keeping yourself? I haven't seen you in years. How's Cheetah and the jungle her business? The reason I'm interested in these things is that it just happens that I used to be Tarzan myself."

That is true. There haven't been a dozen or so Tarzans as the film magazines report. There have been thousands of them all over the country for years and years.

Recipe for making a Tarzan: Mix one tree with one small boy.

A London anthropologist says the Tarzan game is just a dodge. The boy and tree came together because of a primitive instinct.

He said: "About 30 million years ago, in the Miocene period, a major upheaval destroyed so many of the forests that man was forced to come down from the trees and begin walking on two legs instead of all fours."

"But man has always found security in the trees. The forest is his birthplace."

Today's boys reverse the process. As soon as they quit walking on all fours, they head for the nearest tree.

They stand high in the tree, pound on their chests, and yell, "AAAAAYYAAAAAYY!"

The wadded cry of Tarzan of the Apes.

I caught a Tarzan movie on television the other day. One of the new Tarzans. He talked like a college professor.

Not so when I was swinging through the trees. The Tarzan of those days was Mr. Johnny Weissmuller, who talked without titles and adjectives.

"Tarzan go now. You lead, Cheetah. Find Boy."

When I was Tarzan I built my tree house high in a cherry tree in the dark jungles of rural Eugene, Ore. I wore a brown loincloth and had a paring knife strapped to one leg.

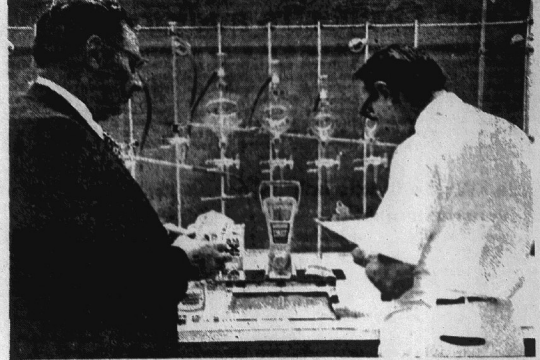

I sat in the tree and ate jungle food (jungle peanut butter and crackers, jungle apples and nifty bars) and thought Tarzan thoughts. "Tarzan eat now, then rest. Gather strength, read comic books, then rescue dumb girl held by headhunters."

The headhunters' camp was just the other side of the chicken house.

It's good to know that Tarzan still lives. In books, on television, and in the pepper tree up the street.

It's a boy's game and belongs in a boy's world, and that's the way it should be.

But sometimes — sometimes it is a great temptation to ... No, I'd get arrested if they ever caught me in a tree dressed like that.

GUN OWNERS' ID

Law licenses people — it doesn't register guns

By MARY LOU MANNING
Copley News Service

SPRINGFIELD — Earle Running owns a gun. He owns more than one, in fact. And he also happens to be the supervisor of the Firearm Owners Identification Section of the Illinois Department of Law Enforcement located in Springfield.

"You, I mean a gun, and I haven't got time for those people who are always complaining about the Illinois Firearm Owners ID law," he said. "I don't think it's an unfair one. It has been an unpopular measure, but that's partly due to misinformation the public has received."

In 1967, the Illinois General Assembly passed the law which makes it mandatory for all persons who own a gun to carry an ID card issued by the section. It became effective July 1, 1968, and since that time, over one and one-quarter million cards have been issued to Illinois residents.

"The misinformation comes from the fact that people think the law is an attempt to register guns. It's not. It's merely a licensing of people who meet specified requirements to handle and own firearms," explained the supervisor.

Running likened the system to the one used to license people who drive cars — even the small, wallet-sized cards are similar. The driver's license law was passed in the 1930s and met the same opposition that the ID card system now faces.

"However, we have seen some change in attitude," said Running. "Five years ago 80 per cent of the state's sheriffs were against the law; now, some 60 per cent of them are for it."

The cards are issued for five years with the expiration date coming on the month of the first birthday following the expiration date now printed on them. A recent picture of the applicant, in lieu of fingerprints for identification purposes, plus a $5 fee must accompany an application.

The fee is divided with $3 going into the Department of Conservation's fish and game fund and $2 into the General Revenue Fund.

In order to receive a card, an Illinois resident must fill out an application which can be obtained at police stations. The application includes five questions, any one of which resulting in a positive answer will result in the application. The questions deal with the following: conviction of a felony and confinement to a penitentiary or mental institution within the last five years, addiction to narcotics and mental retardation.

An applicant must be 21 years of age or, if younger, a parent's written signature must accompany the application.

After the application is notarized, it is sent to Running's section where it is reviewed, edited, and assigned a number. An app has 30 days in which to be accepted. If it fails to meet the criteria, a rejection notice is sent to the customer with the reason for rejection stated. "If a card is issued one in every eight applications is returned to the customer for various reasons," Running said.

Besides issuing the section also supplies the Department of Law Enforcement's Leads Computer communication system with information for quick checking of cards. For instance, a law enforcement officer may need information on someone he has stopped who carries a gun. Through the computer in the Armory in Springfield, this information is relayed without delay.

"We receive an average of 1,500 inquiries per month from the field through the computer," inserted Running. "We also get another 350-400 walk-in inquiries per month."

When are you apt to be asked to display your ID card?

Whenever a member of a law enforcement agency suspects a violation of the law or whenever he encounters a situation which may be a violation of the law or whenever he is called upon to make a purchase, a hearing will be called. "The division has no arresting powers in these matters but can turn the case over to the state's attorney."

The division is also a watchdog for labeling laws which direct a product to be labeled with identity of commodity, net quantity, name and address of manufacturer, packer or distributor.

ment of Agriculture that is working to insure you that a gallon of gas equals 231 cubic inches of fuel and a pound of meat weighs exactly 16 ounces.

It's the Division of Feeds, Fertilizers and Standards headed by Supt. Glenn Yard. As overseer of the Illinois Weights and Measures Act, the division is responsible for the accuracy of all weighing and measuring devices used in trade or commerce and the proper labeling of all commodities.

Periodically, inspectors from this division visit industrial, packaging and retail outlets unannounced to check the accuracy of scales and labels used on the premises. If a grocery scale is found to be in error, it is tagged with one of two colors: yellow indicates a scale is condemned until repaired while a blue marker allows a specified number of days for repair.

At gasoline stations, 10 five-gallon amounts are pumped out and checked for accurate measurement. Only a seven cubic inch per five gallons shortage is allowed.

(Inspectors do not check scales in cities employing a city scale. They do, however, check prepackaged goods.)

"We don't allow anything to be short-weight or over-weight," explained Yard. "If a businessman is cheating himself in this area, he may be making it up in another."

Too, many businessmen are running themselves out of business because of an overweight scale. "A single scale which makes a one-ounce overweight error on a $1 per pound product in 100 weighings a day for 300 days a year will result in a loss to the merchant of some $1,675," according to literature from the division.

On the other hand, "A short weight of as little as one-quarter ounce per pound of meat that sells for $1.39 a pound could result in an annual loss to a family of more than $100," the literature pointed out.

The division has also made some 75,000 weighings of packaged items in area stores during 1972. If they receive a complaint from a consumer, an inspector will go to a store, purchase 10 random samples of the product and weigh each one which is examined in the store and bring them to the division's lab for testing.

The sophisticated lab, located in the basement of division headquarters on the State Fairgrounds, is equipped with weights and measures checked with the Bureau of Standards in Washington, D.C. A length bench is available to calibrate tapes while devices are present to check both standard and metric measurements.

"If only one sample out of 10 does not meet the standards, we can assume that a mistake has been made," Yard said. "However, if others are inaccurate, a hearing will be called." (The division has no arresting powers in these matters but can turn the case over to the state's attorney.)

noted to charities after we have completed our tests," inserted Yard.

Although the division can assure you that a pound is a pound or a yard is a yard, it cannot assure you that butter is butter or silk is silk.

"We are concerned with quantity not quality," the superintendent said.

BEWARE Spoiled food is no picnic

By JOAN MURARO
Copley News Service

SPRINGFIELD — What should come after a picnic is happy memories of time well spent, not headaches, nausea, cramps, and other interesting symptoms of food poisoning.

The Illinois Department of Public Health has recently released a list of suggestions on what to do to make sure the goodies don't turn on you. Basically, they boil down to adding a goodly amount of common sense to each basic recipe.

Since bacteria like nice warm temperatures about as much as people do, the obvious thing is to give them the cold shoulder as much as possible. The department recommends an insulated container (either styrofoam or metal) which has room for both the food and enough cooling agent. The cooling can be done by bags of ice, your own ice cubes or cans of chemical coolants which must be solidly frozen ahead of time. These should be enough of whatever is used to last the entire day, and if possible the cooler should be kept in the shade. Where that isn't possible, the department suggests wrapping an old blanket over the entire cooler, and the Thermos.

Foods should be chilled before they are packed, since warm foods will melt the ice more quickly and the bacteria are back in that balmy environment they thrive in.

When sandwiches contain ham, fish, chicken, eggs and mayonnaise or other cream-salad dressing, the ingredients should not be combined until just before eating. Each ingredient should be prepared the night before, chilled thoroughly and then placed in separate containers in the cooler until ready to be combined and eaten, the department says.

The old picnic standby, potato salad, should be treated the same way, and milk, if it's going along, should be good and chilled, then placed in a separate container in the cooler until ready to be combined and eaten, the department says.

Some things shouldn't be taken at all — the risk is too high. Those include cream pies and cream desserts, as well as cream and custard. They must be kept really chilled to be safe, and keeping them that cold is just too difficult on picnics, the department warns.

In a final word of related warning, the department urges that insect sprays and sun tan aids should be kept a safe distance from the tables and the food, since they can contaminate or poison edibles. If planning to spray the area to reduce the insect population beforehand, this should be done before the picnic is even set, let alone before the food is unpacked, the department urges.

The wedding of Miss Mickey Pratte and Kim R. Gauen took place July 26 at 7 o'clock in the evening at the First Assembly of God Church, 24th Street and Grand Avenue.

Baskets of white and multi-colored blossoms were placed at the altar. Branches of candles holding lighted tapers illuminated the sanctuary for the double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. M. A. Goff.

Preceding the service, the Rev. Goff provided a piano recital and Dale Piggot sang "For a Thousand Tongues," accompanied by Shirley Piggot. Yvonne Albrecht also sang "The Wedding Song" and "Sweet Ye First," accompanied by Dan James and Jon Grondatt.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a white embroidered organza Empire style gown with long tapered sleeves edged in a delicate lace trim and a high neckline. The slightly gathered skirt extended into a chapel length train and she wore a matching lace headpiece to hold in place her shoulder length veil.

Maid of honor, Miss Cecelia Wiese, wore a sleeveless gown of light green voile with pink fluted roses, designed in Empire fashion.

The bridesmaids, Miss Chris Antonopoulos, Miss Renee Besta, Miss Francine Kary and Miss Carol Gauen, a sister of the groom, were gowned in dresses made like the honor attendant's frock in a pale shade of green.

Each of the girls wore a wreath of pink rosebuds in her hair and carried a long stemmed pink rose.

Jill Umson and Julie Sander, cousins of the bride, were flower girls. They wore white eyelet pinnafores and carried wicker baskets of carnations.

The groom chose Dave Reese as his best man. Dave Williams

Steve Stagner, Tom Christiansen and Bret Gauen, a brother of the groom were groomsmen. Seating the guests were Scott Schneider and John Harzard.

Guests were received by the newly married Mr. and Mrs. Gauen at a reception given in the church fellowship hall.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents in the church fellowship hall on the evening preceding the service.

Both young people are graduates of Granite City High School. The bride is employed at Mercantile Trust Bank, St. Louis.

Mr. Gauen attended the University of Illinois for two years and is now a student at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Legislators acting to extend regulatory powers of the state, also need to shed light on rule-making by Illinois agencies

The Illinois state government's regulatory blanket is being spread a bit farther each year.

Franchisers, pet shop owners, travel agents and realtors will be subject to greater state regulations under bills passed by the General Assembly this year. Other businesses were spared further regulation when time ran out in the spring session.

Legislators also passed a "Little Federal Trade Commission Act" which subjects deceptive business practices to the Consumer Fraud Act and allows the state to seek fines of up to $50,000 against violators.

In construing unfair methods of trade or deceptive practices, the state may consider the interpretations of the U.S. FTC and court decisions of the FTC Act. H. 1548 could considerably broaden the power of the Illinois attorney general in areas of consumerism and fraudulent advertising.

The Franchise Disclosure Act (H. 1538) calls for registration of franchise offerings with the Illinois secretary of state and the filing of an extensive disclosure statement by the franchisers. It is designed to protect Illinois residents from buying franchises on the basis of insufficient or withheld information. Enforcement would be by the attorney general, and the act has both civil and criminal penalties for violators.

All pet shops, kennels, catteries, pounds and animal shelters are to be brought under state licensing and regulation under H. 1539.

H. 707 for registration and regulation of real estate brokers creates a real estate recovery fund from which aggrieved persons can recover damages for broker violations.

S. 663 calls for travel agents to be licensed by the state.

Unfortunately, legislators decided to take a further look at several bills designed to give greater public access and better notice of rule-making processes by state regulatory agencies.

Three bills — S. 482 for a legislative review, S. 188 for publication and hearings on new rules and H. 138 for uniform administrative procedures — were assigned to a working subcommittee for study and may have a chance for passage later.

Federal subsidies may produce doctor surplus

By L. EDGAR PRINA
Copy News Service

WASHINGTON — Heavy federal subsidies may soon produce a "chronic surplus" of physicians and an "enormous overuse" of medical resources, according to George Washington University economists.

In a report written for the American Enterprise Institute for Public Policy Research, Prof. Charles T. Stewart Jr. and Corson M. Siddaway, a teaching fellow, asserted:

"The evidence is overwhelming that the $3 billion subsidy legislated in 1971 (in the comprehensive Manpower Training Act) is not necessary to assure an adequate supply of medical personnel in the long run. The existing short-elimination without it."

They also contended that it is "not equitable" to give the highest training subsidies to persons who enter the highest paid profession, particularly in light of the fact that there has been a surplus of qualified applicants for medical school for many years.

Based on Public Health Service estimates, the shortage of doctors as of 1969 was generally accepted to be roughly 20,000. The 1971 legislation will increase the annual output of physicians beginning in

"The annual increment or net increase in the total supply of physicians, instead of reaching 10,000 in 1969, as it would have without the 1971 legislation, will reach 12,000," the economists said. "This is more than twice the annual increment in physicians needed."

According to the study for AEI, a nonpartisan, nonprofit, privately supported educational and research organization, projections of need given to Congress in 1971 "are already proving too conservative."

For example, the number of physicians in 1972 was nearly 13,000 higher than estimated. "The number of physicians, which increased by 30,000 between 1969 and 1971, will be increasing somewhat faster than projected," Stewart and Siddaway said. "And projected needs for medical care must be revised downward slightly to reflect the reduced birthrate."

"Thus, the 50,000 shortage could be eliminated by 1975. Thereafter there will be a growing surplus."

The economists questioned the appropriateness of a long-term approach which permanently increases the capacity of professional schools to deal with a problem which appears on its way to elimination.

"We may soon have a chronic surplus of physicians as a consequence of these federal programs and an enormous overuse of medical resources as surplus doctors try to generate a demand for their services," they cautioned.

Stewart and Siddaway asserted that equity alone would demand that the M.D. pay the cost of his education.

They pointed out that at no time in the last 50 years has there been a shortage of qualified applicants to medical school and that no shortage is anticipated in the foreseeable future.

It has been possible to expand enrollment and increase the number of graduates without sacrificing quality and "nearly all of the increase in supply has taken place without the help of direct federal subsidies," they said.

"By a wide margin, the physician is the highest earning professional in the United States," the economists said. "Median earnings have increased rapidly in the last seven years. They are now in excess of $40,000. Unsubsidized loans for medical study are generally available. Nearly all entrants into medical school finish, and nearly all graduates practice medicine. There is no unemployment problem for physicians."

Doctor migrations cause health care 'vacuum'

By FRANK MACOMBER
Copy News Service

What happened recently in Eureka, Neb., pretty well tells one side of the story of America's doctor shortage and its impact on communities across the land.

Eureka is a small mining town which has seen better times. Until Jean-Paul Sinistre came to Eureka there was no doctor. Sinistre patched up the town's health for six months, then he changed towns and even treated those who couldn't pay. So the county authorities named him county doctor at $5,000 a year.

Then somebody checked up and found Sinistre had no license to practice medicine. He left town one day before being charged with practicing without a license and obtaining money under false pretenses.

Now Eureka's 350 residents must drive 75 miles to Ely, Neb., for medical care, including emergencies. No one condones law violations, but many Eureka people say the town was better off before Sinistre left.

"He helped them all, all that went to him," says County Commissioner Chairman Charles Vaccaro.

"He helped me," Al Hammond, who held the warrants for his former doctor's arrest. "He knew what he was doing."

Eureka's is an unusual case. Yet it serves to point up National Institute of Health figures which show that today there is only one doctor for every 2,000 Americans, compared to three for every 1,000 in 1930.

The imbalance of doctors to population especially is noticeable in rural areas — like Eureka — because many physicians have moved from the country to the city. They are professionals and they can earn a better living in high-cost suburbs or in the high-rise districts of cities.

The ghetto doctor is a vanishing breed. In Chicago, for example, there is one physician for every 900 residents. Yet since the 1950s the doctors have fled from the city and ghetto, most of them to suburban shopping centers.

In the same period, Chicago's growing black communities have suffered a 66 per cent drop in medical manpower.

Today Chicago's plush North Shore suburbs have a doctor for every 518 residents, more than three times as many as the South Side suburbs, inhabited mostly by blue-collar workers, with 1,781 people per doctor.

Pierre de Vir research for the Illinois Regional Medical Program, says doctors tend to select homes in the highest income areas.

Nationally the imbalance is even more striking. New York state has one doctor for every 518 persons and Washington, D.C., one for every 338. Yet Arkansas has only one for more than 1,300 and Mississippi one for every 1,448.

Thousands of small communities have no doctor at all — like Eureka — and most prospect of getting one. The Sears-Roebuck Foundation, which launched a project to bring doctors to small towns by helping them build community clinics, had to give it up. Of 163 clinics built under the program since 1956, at least 53 are vacant now or being used for other activities.

Some regions, doctors have given up their regular practices to band together and invest in hospitals, clinics or laboratories and operate them instead of treating patients. This is a legitimate enterprise, to be sure, yet it leaves doctors out of the manpower pool.

Dr. James R. Jeffers, director of the University of Iowa's Health Economics Research

Center, sees some of these trends which have turned medical manpower from a plus to a minus. He has followed them closely in his largely agricultural state, especially the urbanization of health services in America's "growing heartland."

"In Iowa — as in the United States as a whole — people have tended to move away from the farm to the large communities," Dr. Jeffers says.

"When that happens, physicians and other trained health professionals tend to move to the cities, too. In our state's largest counties, for example, there were about 850 people for every doctor in 1967. In our 14 smallest counties, the ratio was 1,839 to one."

Another trend, he adds, is the rising proportion of specialists among the physician population. Obviously, that means a lessened supply of family practitioners — especially in areas with smaller numbers of people.

But that isn't all bad, Dr. Jeffers emphasizes.

"Increasing specialization provides the patient with a greater variety of highly trained medical skills, and makes more readily available the latest breakthroughs in the areas where medical frontiers are being advanced," he points out.

"What's more, those skills are quickly available to a patient — even if he lives in one of our farming areas. That's because a complete turnabout has taken place in the delivery of health care. Today the patient is brought to the doctor, rather than the doctor going to the patient."

As a result, Dr. Jeffers continues, "the number of patients a physician can care for in a day has increased manifold. In some cases, it's as if they live 20 or 30 miles from the nearest physician."

May try to end marketing by the major oil companies

Guest column by Lester Bell of the Press-Record's Washington bureau:

The power of major oil companies to control the flow from well head to the corner gas pump may have to be broken, in the opinion of Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson.

The Illinois Democrat has provided newsmen with a "gasoline shortage fact sheet" on a U.S. Office of Oil and Gas report which says, "It is difficult to see a shortage" when inventories are higher than a year ago.

Stevenson said he can only conclude that the "majors are using the so-called shortage to eliminate the independents and reap profits at the public's expense."

He accused big oil of manipulating production figures to "increase its stronghold and maximize profits" and he scored the federal government's incapacity to make its own audits as "more madness."

Stevenson, recalling huge oil industry contributions to President Nixon's re-election campaign, suggested that "maybe the contributors are being rewarded" in lackadaisical Justice Department and Federal Trade Commission oversight of suspected transgressions by the oil industry.

He said, "Nixon's voluntary program has been a flop" and that "federal laws could be enforced."

Time to consider restructuring the oil industry and divest them (the major companies) of marketing.

Nothing that the industry has four components — production, refining, pipeline and marketing — Stevenson said he is not sure that "it is wise" to fragment the four parts, but that the idea "deserves consideration."

The economic consequence as it relates to stiff foreign competition must be taken into account.

"A CAN OF GAS, A BONE STEAK AND THOU..."

Stevenson reiterated his confidence that in time the truth will out in the Watergate affair.

As for Congressional talk of impeachment of President Nixon, Stevenson says "that call is premature."

He does believe the President should "come out of hiding" and tell the public his side of the story.

For Mr. Nixon's appearing before Congress, Stevenson's reaction is, "I'd hate to see it happen."

Happy youngsters with bicycles in GC police rodeo

PROUD OWNER of a brand new bicycle, Kerry Nolan, 2828 Denver St., receives his prize from Officer Friendly, Roy J. Koberna, after winning the third grade boys' contest in the first annual bicycle rodeo sponsored by the Granite City Police Department's community relations division. Observing the presentation in the background, at right, is Police Chief Ronald J. Veizer. Business firms, Moose Lodge 272 and local police furnished new bicycles to the winners.

YOUNGSTERS GATHER around Charlie Hayes, third from right, president of Downtown Granite City, Inc., and Officer Friendly — Granite City Police Officer Roy J. Koberna — to receive consolation and runner-up prizes provided by the local retail merchants' organization. More than 300 children took part in regional contests at three Granite City schools with regional winners competing in the 'All-City Bicycle Rodeo Finals' on the 18th Street and Edison Avenue parking area.

By VALERIE EVENDEN
Stress-Record Staff Writer
Stressful youngsters are riding sparkling new bicycles around town this week — their reward for winning their respective age group contests in the first annual "Bicycle Rodeo" sponsored by the Community Relations Division of the Granite City Police Department.

Patrolman Roy Koberna, better known as Officer Friendly to local school-children, announced the top boy and girl contestants in each division as follows:

Sixth grade — Jerry Christ, 4075 Breckenridge Lane, and Christy Devine, 3244 Redger Ave.; fifth grade — Bryan Johnson, 1313 Spruce St., and Elaine Kosterer, 50 Cambridge Drive, fourth grade — Carl Veizer, 2727 Willow Ave., and Ronnie Christ, 4075 Breckenridge Lane.

Third grade — Kerry Nolan, 2828 Denver St., and Rayette Herrin, 2024 Lohdell Blvd.; second grade — Chris Young, 2822 Iowa St., and Tracy Young, 32 Wilson Park Drive; and first grade — Jeff Wilson, 2415 Delmar Ave.

Officer Koberna arranged the rodeo with assistance of Downtown Granite City, Inc., a merchant's organization; the Great River Riders Cycling Club; Explorer Post 10-33, a scouting unit sponsored by the GC police department; and Moose Lodge 272 and Women of the Moose Chapter 247.

Help in tagging the contestants prior to competition was provided by Joe Schwartz of Highland, a license investigator with the Illinois Secretary of State's Office, members of Explorer Post 10-33 and the River Riders Club.

In addition to providing a "fun type" of event, Officer Koberna said the rodeo enabled safety factors to be stressed to youngsters operating machines, and a safety inspection was conducted to show participants how to make bicycles unsafe to ride.

Equally important during the rodeo was the opportunity afforded the contestants to register their bicycle in a special file now maintained at police headquarters.

Koberna said the alarming increase in bicycle thefts, including more than 100 stolen in a four-week period, prompted the registration program which is continuing through the summer months. Owners of bicycles may register their machine at the Granite City Police Department, where officers will record the owner's name, address and age, together with the color, make and size of the bicycle, and a special number registration card.

A corresponding number is then etched in three locations on the bicycle to enable speedy identification should the machine become lost or stolen.

Hopefully, the registration program will help reduce the number of unclaimed or abandoned machines and deter thieves, Koberna said.

In gaining their victories, the youthful contestants successfully navigated through a double obstacle course in a limited space.

Six areas of competition were offered and regional contests were staged at Frohardt, McKinley and Washington grade schools as a prelude to the All-City Bicycle Rodeo in the 1800 block of Edison Avenue.

Business firms contributing new bicycles to the winning boys and girls, included First Granite City Savings and Loan; State Radio & Television; First Granite City National Bank; Granite City Trust & Savings Bank; Western Auto Supply Co.; American National Bank; Granite City in Nameless Village Shopping Center; Moose Lodge 272; Women of the Moose Chapter 247 and the Granite City Police Department.

Bicycle horns, lights and similar accessories were furnished to all participating children by Downtown Granite City, Inc., Koberna reported.

Applications due
Individuals or organizations wishing to use Granite City school facilities for baseball and other activities during the coming school year are asked to submit a letter to the Granite City Board of Education office, 20th and Adams, stating their request. All letters must be mailed to the school board no later than Aug. 28.

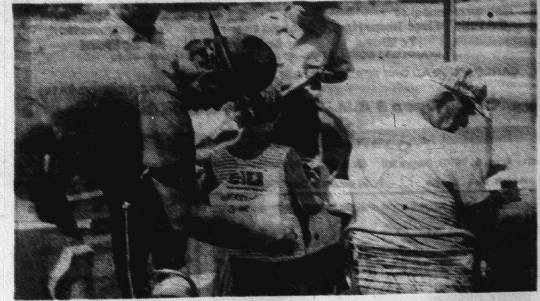

DECOR
Small bedroom usable
By BARBARA HARTUNG
Copley News Service

Q I have a bedroom that is a mere 9 by 10 feet and is useless at the present. I want to use it for a study and sewing room. It is a rooming house. Would you kindly suggest some sort of furnishings and a color scheme? The room has a white mottled vinyl tile on the floor which I must keep. — D.H.

A First of all, you probably need storage. So why not buy two tall bookshelves about 32 inches wide. Between them a low cabinet as deep as the bookshelves. Use the low cabinet for seating — stretch out a soft pad for on top, in a low back chair or ottoman. You might cover the walls with felt in a light, bright color — maybe lemon yellow or light green. This could be used for taking notes, patterns, etc., or for creating an interesting art arrangement. Paint all the other walls and furniture white so it will blend into the background.

For the fabric pad and pillows at the back if you desire, you might introduce several additional colors. Use one of the bright colors or the color of the felt at the window for simple curtains that you can draw back to give you light for reading and sewing without taking up floor space. You might want to include in one small upholstered chair in the room.

THE WORLD OF MUSIC F. C. bringing change to rock

By JUDY HUGG
Copley News Service

If you think it's impossible to make rock music beautiful, lyrical and fragile, yet still have it rock, then you are wrong. Fairport Convention has done this on their new album for A&M called "Rococo".

The group's music is firmly rooted in the traditional English sound, but it's laced with American rock music, as popular with the British bands of today.

"The folk rock aspect in our music is gradually disappearing," said Dave Matthews recently while vacationing in Los Angeles between tours.

One of the amazing things about Fairport Convention is that they are still around to tell their story. Eight LPs have been produced under the name Fairport Convention, yet not a one has been made by the same personnel lineup.

Such names as Ian Matthews, Martin Lamble, Sandy Denny, Tyger Hutchinson and Richard Thompson have worked with F.C. at one time or another but splintered and formed new groups or went solo.

The group we have now which consists of Dave Swarbrick on fiddle, mandolin and vocals; Trevor Lucas on guitar and vocals; Dave Pegg on bass, mandolin and vocals; Jerry Donahue on electric and acoustic guitars and vocals and myself on piano, percussion and drums, show all the signs of staying together one hundred per cent," Dave said.

"Things are really going well and we're developing naturally. As you progress you just seem to get better, and this band is improving by leaps and bounds, since we did 'Babbacombe Lee,' which incidentally died in obscurity."

You know that was a true story and it was very close to home for me because I used to live down in the Devonshire area as well as in Cornwall. When Lee was young he had a job in a Kingswear hotel which is just across the bay from where I lived in Dartmouth so I was very familiar with its local."

It was shortly after the release of "Babbacombe" that the band decided to go in search for new talent to replace guitarist Simon Nicol. They soon came up with America's expatriate Jerry and the Australian-born Trevor to round out Fairport Convention once again and hopefully for the last time.

After listening to "Rococo" it's plain to see that F.C. will no longer have trouble finding material to use because the members are now contributing original pieces from which to draw upon.

Swarbrick, who is master of the writing chores and is in his finest voice on his own compositions, "Rococo" is a ballad that leaves no doubt in one's mind as to his talents. "My Girl," "We Have You" and "Fiddlers" are also from his pen.

CENTSIBLE SHOPPING Let children help buy school clothes

By JOYCE ROARK
Copley News Service

Summer is a carefree time of year. But very soon it'll be time to buy school clothes. Clothing prices are at their highest in August. So you must buy your child's clothes before August and hope he or she doesn't outgrow them by then.

Most mothers are in such a quandary about what to buy that they end up buying what they think is best for the child. If the child doesn't like it or won't wear it — then what do you do? For this and other reasons, the child should be taken along and consulted when buying school clothes.

Everyone likes to have his peers admire his clothing. Separates can be worn longer than one-piece outfits.

If you plan to pass clothes down, be sure to purchase styles that won't become dated. Fad styles are fashionable for very short periods. Avoid clothing made of heavy fabrics, crepe, taffeta, satin, etc.

Large plaid and prints are not appropriate for children's clothing.

Children are very active people, so their clothing must be durable. When shopping, be sure to check the seams. It's also a good idea to check the fabric for flaws.

Girls like choosing their own clothes, so take them with you if you can. Boys are a bit reluctant, so don't pressure them. To the best you can, remember that there is always next year.

Tension needs attention

By MARION WELLS
Copley News Service

Is your heart straining to keep pace with your schedule? Did you know that under the pressure of stress, your heart rate may soar as high as 150 beats per minute?

There is no question that stress and tension, when added to other risk factors, cause a rise in the incidence of coronary disease. The heartening news is that you can release the pressure through a few easily opened safety valves before you reach the breaking point.

How does stress strain your heart? While the role of cholesterol in coronary heart disease is still controversial, researchers have found that tension can cause a rise in blood cholesterol levels.

Edward R. Pinckney, M.D., cites reports of laboratory-measured rises in serum cholesterol found in "tax accountants at the height of the tax season, in students during examinations, and in military personnel undergoing stress, with absolutely no change in diet." Detailed studies indicate that any stress, or even misinterpreting a seemingly stressful situation, can change cholesterol levels.

Under stress, the body pours adrenalin into the blood. Adrenalin gets you ready to react faster by raising blood pressure and by making it possible for your blood to clot more readily.

With this rise in blood pressure, says cardiologist Dr. Campbell Moses, fragments of fatty deposits can be broken off artery walls and carried along by the blood until they block other narrowed arteries further along.

Medical case histories show that the biochemical machinery designed to help us in occasional danger situations can begin to work against us when we force it to operate day after day. Unfortunately, we often fail to recognize the sources of strain. Your first step is to evaluate your life style and try to find points of pressure.

Many people are jarred by the jungle of the telephone. Perhaps yours needs its bell toned down.

Tight time schedules and traffic can strain your nerves. Try to eliminate some driving by doing several chores in one trip. If you're always in a hurry, could you be trying to do too much? Cranking less work into each day may give you more days in which to do your work.

Are you getting "up tight" by trying to stretch your pocketbook too far? Your health can't afford it any more than your bank account.

Are you allowing tension to build by putting off unpleasant jobs?

A one psychologist feels that to a large extent, stress may be an "occupational ailment." A nationwide survey suggests the causes may include too much to do, uncertainty as to the extent of your responsibilities and the scope of your job, stepping outside the secure limits of normal tasks and a feeling of "no participation" in decisions which affect your work. You may need to ask your superiors for a clarification or reevaluation of duties, or consider switching jobs or departments.

Do you allow situations to pile up on each other? Talking things out in an open-minded fashion can release pent-up stress even if no agreement is reached. We can all learn to disagree without being disagreeable.

Certain authorities feel that a short nap is effective in releasing tension and replenishing reserves, but be patient. It may take a long time to get into the habit.

Some experts believe that exercise helps you to withstand and relieve tension and improve mental outlook. A medical examination should precede any program of unaccustomed activity, however. Experts suggest a gradually accelerating regimen, under medical supervision if age and physical conditioning so indicate. Sudden spurts of peak exertion strain the heart tremendously.

It's also important to warm up and taper off. One group of researchers reported that when exercising without a warm-up, 31 out of 41 healthy firemen tested, ranging in age from 20 to 56, exhibited minor irregularities in their electrocardiograms. Results showed no correlation with either age or physical conditioning.

Pay attention to tension. Learn to pause before your heart stops.

Tires may run for ever

By FRANK MACOMBER
Copley News Service

Are you forever having your car's front wheels realigned? The shock absorbers changed for new ones, or the wheels balanced — all to save those precious front tires?

Of course you are, if you drive a car. Your friendly service station operator will stand and relieve tension and improve mental outlook. A medical examination should precede any program of unaccustomed activity, however. Experts suggest a gradually accelerating regimen, under medical supervision if age and physical conditioning so indicate. Sudden spurts of peak exertion strain the heart tremendously.

Two companies, the Italian Pirelli and British Dunlop, claim they have developed a radical new triangular tire that will be as safe as you won't even have to carry a spare.

The triangular tire, with a flat bottom and walls that slant in and up against the wheel rim, is made of pre-compressed rubber and has no cord carcass. The companies say it provides automatic sealing against punctures and eliminates heat buildups entirely during hot weather or at high speeds.

An accident-producing blowout is simply impossible, according to advance notices for the triangular tire. If it is punctured and goes flat, a sidewall cave in and create a cushion of solid rubber on which the car can be driven at high speeds without danger, according to its designers.

Mind you, there have been other revolutionary concepts which were to have solved the motorist's tire problems — nylon, polyester, etc. None of them panned out as practical because they had good run-off the road rubber. The steel-belted or radial tire was the next proposed answer to the motorist's problem.

Now along comes the triangular tire, with claims even beyond those for the radials.

The motorist will have to wait and see. Yet the encounter

Students earning $2.5 million on campus

Working one's way through college is an honorable American tradition featured in American folklore and songs. It's no different at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, where an average of 1,600 students each year work at campus jobs and earn approximately $2.5 million in wages.

John Jensen, of the SIUE Student Work and Financial Assistance Office, estimates that "the 1,600 employed by the University are only part of the total number of students who have jobs supporting themselves, at least partially, while they gain their education."

"Those working at jobs in their home towns on a part-time basis probably number about two to three times more than our total work force on campus," Jensen said.

The number of students working is expected to be influenced next year by a cut in federal funds for the College Work-Study Program. Approximately 400 students are employed.

FOR SALE: The Board of Education has some student desks for sale at 20th and Adams Streets, Granite City, Illinois. These desks are the universal type, chair and desk fastened together, and also student desks with an arm attached. If you would want to buy a dozen or more, see the warehouseman for prices.

programs. Gaining valuable experience in the handling of crowds at large scale entertainment sites are those students working nightly at the Mississippi River Festival each summer. MRP officials have commended student workers for their "coolness" in handling crowds as large as 55,000.

Most of the dispatching for the University security office is performed by student workers. But, in the opinion of some students, there are more exciting jobs in the science labs, taking care of the animals. In the biological sciences department, 15 students work in the labs as undergraduate teaching assistants whose main function is to assist the instructors in the lab sessions and with their tutorial efforts.

It is estimated that many of the workers earn approximately $1,200 annually, which is a substantial percentage of the yearly cost of attending SIUE.

It is stressed too that none of the jobs is what some call a "made" job. The more exciting jobs probably are those connected with the University's Health Service and its Security Office. The bulk of the ambulance drivers are former medics in the armed services, and most of these veterans are headed for careers in medicine either as doctors or in supporting services.

SIUE's radio station, WSIE-FM, has a large staff of student employees, all gaining workday experience in their fields, broadcasting Cougar sports activities (home and away) and other types of
